Most international students with nonimmigrant student status, such as F-1, F-2, J-1, or J-2, are classified as out-of-state students and are ineligible for the lower tuition rate. However, international students under age 22 with F and J status whose parents have employment visas, and married students with F and J status whose spouses have employment visas, may qualify. Exceptions to the one-year requirement are provided for active-duty military, Colorado National Guard members and certain dependents of active-duty military, honorably discharged members of U.S. armed forces and certain dependents of honorably discharged members, faculty members at state-supported colleges, and employees of companies moving to Colorado with State economic incentives. Details of these exceptions and information about the Colorado resident/nonresident regulations are available from the Office of the Registrar at colorado.edu/registrar/state-tuition/criteria-establish-residency, by e-mail at tuitclass@colorado.edu, or by telephone: 303-492-0907.)
